

This Summer, Invest in your Future!

The Rhode Island Department of Transportation is looking for college students interested in spending the summer working alongside transportation professionals to build and maintain the State's system of roads, bridges and other transportation-related infrastructure.

This program provides a unique opportunity in a paid internship working in such areas as Construction, Highway, Materials, Traffic and Bridge Engineering, Environmental Protection, Historic Preservation, Financial Management, Computer Information Systems, Landscape Architecture, Legal Services, Audit, Performance Management, Planning and Public Affairs. (Civil engineering majors receive preference with placement for all engineering assignments.)

These full-time appointments begin May 19 and continue to early September. Salary ranges from $10 - $16 hourly depending on your academic standing and experience. Assignments are available in Providence and statewide.

To apply, please send:

- A resume detailing your education and work qualifications
- An official copy of your latest college academic transcript
- A letter of interest describing your career plans, to:
